DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's arguments, filed 7/17/2008, have been fully considered. Rejections and/or objections not reiterated from previous office actions are hereby withdrawn. The following rejections and/or objects are either reiterated or newly applied. They constitute the complete set presently being applied to the instant application.

New Grounds of Rejection

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 13 recites "The remedy according to Claim 1, comprising at least one of..." and further recites "... and being a fine particle formulation wherein major particle diameters are 1 to 6 microns." It is unclear if the recited components (1) are present as discrete particles in addition to and separate from the PLGA particles of Claim 1 (i.e. "further comprising") or (2) are additional components within the PLGA particles of Claim 1 and those particles have a major particle diameter of 1 to 6 microns. The recitation of "major particle diameters" further renders the claim indefinite. It is unclear what particles diameters of the formulation are "major" (i.e. largest diameters, highest populations, greatest mass, etc) and the skilled practitioner would not know the meets and bounds of the claimed invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 12-13 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) and 102(e) as being anticipated by US 20020106461 ('461).

'461 discloses a formulation comprising particles of rifampicin coated with a polymer coating selected from polymers including PLGA and polyethylene glycol, and mixtures thereof (see paragraphs 55, 64, 102, 139). The particles are prepared by physical vapor deposition of the coating onto the rifampicin core (see paragraph 55). The deposited PLGA has a molecular weight of 7,000 daltons (see paragraphs 36). The particle diameters may range from 0.1 microns to 2-3 mm (see paragraph 107).

Instant Claim 16 is directed to a product-by-process. "[E]ven though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process.” In re Thorpe, 777 F.2d 695, 698, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985). See MPEP § 2113. In the instant case, the method of making disclosed by ‘461 would produce the same particle formulation as the method disclosed in Instant Claim 16.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
